BISCOTTI

Kit — Homemade

If you like to bake homemade cookies for gifts for teachers, friends and neighbors, biscotti are a great choice. Biscotti are baked twice (in Italian Bis-cotto literally means baked twice), which gives them their dry, crunchy texture. The dough is first shaped into a log and baked. After the baked dough log cools, you slice it on the diagonal and bake the cookies a second time until they are crisp. The recipe we give you is so easy and you can make lots of different flavors of biscotti so that there is something everyone will like.

ITALIAN COFFEE AND SWEETS PROJECT

In Italy the day is defined by coffee rituals: a cappuccino with breakfast, a caffè macchiato – or two – as an afternoon pick-me-up, and espresso after dinner. And like any culture, that of Italian coffee comes with seemingly mysterious laws. Order a latte, and you'll receive a glass of milk (which is exactly what you ordered). Ask for a to-go cup or order a cappuccino after 11 a.m., and risk an instant tourist label.

The morning begins with a breakfast comprising a cookie paired with a delicious, milky coffee:

- Cappuccino: equal parts espresso, steamed milk, and foamed milk
- Caffè latte: espresso with more steamed milk and less foam
- Latte macchiato: steamed milk “marked” with a splash of espresso.

Italians often sip a caffè as an afternoon pick-me-up or after a meal. “Let’s get a coffee!” Appropriate anytime, a caffè (or caffè normale) is simply an espresso, a small but strong shot of black coffee. It can come together with a dessert: specaility cookies, biscotti or during Holiday Time Panettone.

Over the centuries, Italians have created a variety of alterations to the powerful punch of espresso. Branch out by brewing Caffè Corsini pairing with Borgo de’ Medici Cookies and Cakes.

Caffè macchiato: For the softer side of coffee, enjoy this espresso “marked” with a splash of frothy milk. Unlike the breakfast drinks, this lightly milky caffè can be enjoyed as frequently as caffè normale.

Caffè corretto: Literally translated to “corrected coffee,” this drink features espresso with a splash of alcohol, such as grappa or sambuca.

Caffè americano: After trying drip coffee in the United States, Italians decided to offer tourists a taste of home. Their interpretation: espresso diluted with plenty of hot water.

Caffè lungo: This “long coffee” comprises espresso with a splash of hot water but is stronger than the americano.

SOFT BAKED BISCOTTI

It is hard to imagine a more fitting finale to a Tuscan meal than Cantucci (commonly called “Biscotti”). Traditionally, they are crunchy and crispy and contain almonds. Our original version is of a Soft Baked Biscotti that is very unique, and is made in the shape of traditional Tuscan Biscotti, but with a unique twist, born, like all great inventions, from a mistake: a secret ingredient.

A050313

SOFT BAKED BISCOTTI

The result sees the trademark crispness of Cantucci give way to a delicate softness that perfectly wraps itself around a sweet filling. To date, nobody has been able to recreate the mixture that makes these biscotti unique. These are the perfect gift for those looking for something unique and made with only the highest quality ingredients, or as the final course in any Holiday meal.

Florentine Macarons

From the 16th century, when Caterina de' Medici brought to France these sweets delicacies, macarons took their origins, or better their notoriety. Called maccarons, from the wording Maccarone, their origin is 100% Italian, where from the 8th century they were cooked for nobles families and served for special occasions. From Tuscany, the birthplace of De' Medici family, we're proud to re bring these colorful, delicately flavored crispy desserts, with a creamy heart, from the Italian tradition to our customers all over the world.

Meringues

Nothing has been more delicate and sweet than a meringue. The most stable type of meringue is the Italian style, which is made by beating egg whites to firm peaks, then slowly whisking in hot sugar syrup to produce a dense meringue with a satiny texture that can be used as-is to top cakes and pies, or as a base for buttercream frosting.

A rain of sweetness

A real Chocolate Lust... They're called Sweet Truffles for their textured surface but mostly as if you'd look for a worthy opponent of truffle among sweets and confectionery you'd probably choose these incredible delicacies.

Rough surface with a creamy velvety intense chocolate inside, these bite size chocolate truffles are a sin of gluttony to be granted...

Caramelized fig it's pretty much identical to our fig jam recipe (only with slightly less sugar), here they are barely touched, so that they do not break but remain perfectly whole. It's delicious with soft cheeses, which is how it's traditionally eaten, as part of a cheese platter.

Caramelized Chestnuts is a typical product in Tuscany. The chestnuts are roasted while they are still fresh and then placed in the syrup made with sugar cane. Try the roasted chestnuts on their own, on gelato or to prepare your favourite desserts.

The best Christmas Dishes

Mushroom Tortellini and Truffle Ravioli are our most favourite dishes for the Holiday Dinners with family. We had the idea for these gourmet stuffed pasta dishes because they are such a winter warmer and the addition of truffle and porcini elevates them to something really special, great for any special occasion or the vegetarian of the group on Christmas Day!

Autumn in Tuscany

Autumn brings vibrant colors and mellow flavors to Italy's markets and, in Tuscany especially, Pumpkins to the table. In the Tuscan cuisine, Pumpkins are suitable for sweet and savory recipes. In a creamy risotto with a hint of black truffle to make it more interesting, combined with purple carrot to realize a pasta dough, or as filling for ravioli. Pumpkins go very well with spices to create delicious biscotti and cookies.

Chestnut in Tuscany

Autumn in Tuscany means pumpkin, mushrooms, truffles and... chestnut! As fall comes to Florence, the city begins to smell like roasted chestnuts. Stands appear on street corners, and locals love to buy a small bag for their passeggiata, the afternoon walk downtown. Although the prickly outer casing makes chestnuts hard to harvest, the hills around Florence are filled with chestnut trees, and many people have small chestnut groves as a cash crop. Chestnuts are used in the kitchen whole for roasting or boiling (and therefore caramelize) and for grinding into flour which is the base of the Biscotti and the Necci (a pasta product).

Borgo de’ Medici

Borgo de’ Medici is a family-run company dedicated to producing a series of food specialties made in Tuscany and to promoting these gems, by distributing them with own trademark, in Italy and throughout the world. Our philosophy can be summed up in two simple words “Living Tuscany”

For Borgo de’ Medici, Tuscany has always been the starting point. All our raw materials, and culinary techniques originate within this territory, an area that has always supported history and traditions linked to the creation and exchange of handcrafted products. Our products represent a unique heritage that spotlights quality and variety. They are the result of an extraordinarily high level of handcrafted expertise which is quite difficult to achieve. Thus, these products are truly representative of a distinct territorial and historical identity.

Great to eat and interesting to think about.

We Defend and Promote the Tuscan Gastronomic Heritage

Borgo de’ Medici (Translation: Village of the Medici Family) The Story...

The Medici family ruled the city of Florence in the region of Tuscany from 1433 until 1756. Every time a Tuscan village or town was conquered by the Florentine Army, a stone stamp marker with the Medici House symbol was put in evidence on the wall of the town or on the city hall building and the village became officially a “Borgo de’ Medici”.

The Medici family had a major influence on the growth of the Italian Renaissance through their patronage and support of the arts, the humanities and the development of modern Italian cuisine. To honor this historic heritage, in 1999 Massimo Pugi and his family founded Borgo de’ Medici Delizie Toscane in Prato (Tuscany). Working with some of the best artisans, farmers and beekeepers of the region, he developed a complete line of authentic Tuscan fine food creating an ideal village (Borgo) of specialty foods (the biscotti from the bakery, the extra virgin olive oil from the olive mill, the fruit preserve from the kitchen with copper pots...)

Over the past 18 years, Borgo de’ Medici has grown and developed into a multi-national company, with products now available in fine specialty stores in more than 30 countries. All of the products come from farms and workshops located in zones of specialization, and are owned by or associated with Borgo de’ Medici. And now, we bring to you Borgo de’ Medici USA Inc., a 100% family owned subsidiary created to import and directly distribute the Borgo de’ Medici line to specialty stores in the USA just as it is distributed in the Old World...

Our mission is to become the leading purveyor of Tuscan fine food in the world, respected for the outstanding quality of our products, their presentation and authenticity. We are committed to educating, inspiring and communicating the quality, the originality, the values and the lifestyle of Borgo de’ Medici and the Tuscan countryside.
