PAN de'MEDICI

Traditional Florentine Cake

Here comes Christmas and the chill of the December air in Florence is sweetened with the enticing aromas of artisan bakers making de' Medici's Bread, Pan de' Medici. This famous Florentine Christmas cake, baked artisanally, is a plain, naturally yeast-leavened, sweet bread perfumed with vanilla. Many competing stories claim to reveal the origins of Pan de' Medici. Some say a young baker invented the cake to impress his lover; others say the sweet cake was invented by a nun to impress her fellow sisters. Whichever it is, it is certainly a labour of love, as making such Cake is not a quick process.

Pan de' Medici can be toasted for breakfast, eaten with coffee, dipped in vin santo for lunch, enjoyed with prosecco for aperitivo, and served as the closer for dinner, along with amaretto. This rich in butter cake is very versatile and can be used also in savory combination, such as truffle, salmon, foil gras or caviar.

Enjoy your own Pan de' Medici this festive season.

Our Gin Infused Panettone has been awarded as INDYBEST as the best panettone in the UK market following the reviews of the newspaper Independent

“This was a big hit with our testers. Made in Italy using the traditional method and injected with gin syrup, this panettone is so beautifully wrapped and tied with ribbon, it already feels like a real treat for Christmas time or a gift for a gin fan. On opening, it smells immediately of gin with some subtle vanilla and spices, though not overpoweringly so. The texture is springy and pillowy soft with just the right level of moistness without being too sticky. It holds its shape well, is easy to slice and tastes subtly of juniper crossed with citrus. Very moreish and it’s so light you’ll easily need another slice.”

PANETTONE Spritz INFUSED

Whether you’re a fan of Spritz cocktail or a lover of cake, this gorgeous Spritz Drunken Panettone ticks all the boxes for a tipsy festive treat. A traditional Italian sweet bread loaf that’s soft and delicious, panettone is a lovely, lighter alternative to a traditional Christmas cake. Infused with the unique flavour of the most Italian Cocktail, it brings together both traditional and modern flavours to create a wonderfully moist and properly boozy cake that’s perfect for sharing with friends and family. Presented in a beautifully gift-wrapped box, it would make a lovely gift for any Italian foodie or cocktail lover. Why not try serving with orange sorbet or a vanilla ice cream for a grown-up dessert, or create a fabulously boozy bread-and-butter pudding also for creative aperitif.

La Romana Sambuca is a liqueur obtained from a blend of natural essences including elderberry, green anise and star anise. It is produced through the distillation of green anise and star anise, which helps to give the liqueur an unmistakable taste and an intense aroma. After adding the elderberry extract, the distillate undergoes maceration and is then sweetened. Our Romana Sambuca infused panettone is a delicious proposal for the holidays but which is a perfect dessert for the whole year!
